How pool betting works

Pool betting means monies from all bets are put into a pool and payouts are determined by dividing the net pool total by the number of winning bets.

After each race we display the payouts on our bet types in decimal odds, so £11 is the equivalent of 10/1 and so on.

Please check our display screens to see the latest estimated payout to a £1 stake on each horse. This can change up until the start of the race.
